

Notes on Contributors

Articles

Dr Dean Ballinger is a research fellow in the Department of Screen and Media Studies at the University of Waikato, who has previously published on conspiracy theories.

Peter Clayworth is a freelance historian currently based in Wellington. He comes from a family of mechanics in Stoke, Nelson. He has previously worked for the Waitangi Tribunal, for the Department of Conservation, and as a writer for Te Ara the encyclopedia of New Zealand.

Dr Kristyn Harman is a historian, and Senior Lecturer in the School of Humanities in the Faculty of Arts at the University of Tasmania in Hobart. She is the author of Aboriginal Convicts: Australian, Khoisan, and Māori Exiles (Sydney: UNSW Press, 2012), and a range of other publications.

Lisa Marriott is an Associate Professor of Taxation at Victoria University of Wellington's School of Accounting and Commercial Law. Lisa's research interests include social justice and inequality, and the behavioural impacts of taxation.

Ewan Morris lives in Lower Hutt and is a historian with an interest in symbols and memorials. He is the author of Our Own Devices: National Symbols and Political Conflict in Twentieth-Century Ireland (2005).

Dalice Sim is Senior Research Fellow/ Biostatistician at the University of Otago, Wellington. Her research interests include public health, and quantitative studies related to societal wellbeing.

J.E. Traue is a former chief librarian of the Alexander Turnbull Library and teaching fellow in librarianship at the Victoria University of Wellington. He has written widely on research libraries and the development of public libraries in nineteenth century New Zealand.

Book Reviews

Dr Geoff Bertram, Institute for Governance and Policy Studies, Victoria University of Wellington.

Professor Barbara Brookes, Department of History, University of Otago.

Professor Len Cook, Institute for Governance and Policy Studies, Victoria University of Wellington.

Molly George, PhD Candidate and Research Fellow in the Department of Anthropology and Archaeology at the University of Otago.

David Hall, PhD Candidate, Victoria University of Wellington.

Peter Holland, Professor Emeritus, Geography, University of Otago.

Erik Olssen, Professor Emeritus, Department of History, University of Otago.

Tony Simpson is a social historian and publisher.

Geoffrey Troughton is a Senior Lecturer in Religious Studies at Victoria University of Wellington.