

Finding New Zealand's Scientific Heritage

23-24 November 2015, Victoria University of Wellington

Speakers include:

Prof. Naomi Oreskes (Harvard University) Why History Matters – Perspectives from the Recent History of Science

Dr Dan Hikuroa (Ngā Pae o te Māramatanga) Te Whakapapa o Putaiao Kei Aotearoa – The History of Science in New Zealand

Dr Simon Nathan (GNS Science) Deciphering the 19th Century Web of Science – Connecting New Zealand With the Outside World

Dr Rebecca Priestley (Victoria University of Wellington) 'A Place Among Immortals' – Ernest Marsden and His 20th Century Scientific Networks

Prof. Jean Fleming (University of Otago) A Brief History of Science Communication in New Zealand

Kate Hannah (Te Pūnaha Matatini) From Rutherford's Sister (or 'the two Lucies') to Nanogirl – Deconstructing narratives of female invisibility and hypervisibility in 150 years of New Zealand science

Dr Ross Galbreath DSIR – The Evolution of a New Zealand Department of Science 1916 to 1992

Tanya Zoe Robinson (Deakin University) 'All intelligent subjects' – Scientific Collecting and Identity at the Hawke's Bay Philosophical Institute Museum, 1874–1899

Dr Ian St George Icones Colensoi – Portrayals of William Colenso

Dr John Martin (Royal Society of New Zealand) Science and Species of Politicians in the 19th Century – Monkeys or Bullfrogs?

There are also parallel sessions each day, dealing with:

- 19th Century Science & Scientists; DSIR & 20th Century Science;
- Weather, Radar & Astronomy; and General and Miscellaneous.

Registration: Go to <http://historyofscience.nz/registration.html>

	Early Bird (Until 15 Oct)	Full Price (Until 16 Nov)
Standard two days	$280	$350
Standard one day	$165	$225
Student/Retired/Unwaged two days	$210	$255
Student/Retired/Unwaged one day	$135	$185

All prices include GST.

Further information: Contact the conference convener, Rebecca Priestley, or conference administrator, Kate Bazeley, at: NZhistsci2015@vuw.ac.nz

the ROYAL SOCIETY of
NEW ZEALAND
TE APĀRANGI